2016 DECV curriculum material for registered home schoolers

Home Schooling families registered with the VRQA for provision of Foundation (Prep) to Year 10 are able to purchase some DECV curriculum material in order to support their home education program. Only printed curriculum materials produced by the DECV are available for Home Schooling families. All DECV learning materials are based on the Victorian AusVELS curriculum standards.

In 2016 Home Schoolers may purchase materials covering the following subjects:

- Years 7-8: All curriculum areas for both semesters
- Year 9: Semester 1: English, Mathematics, Science, History, Arts, Health & Physical Education

Please note: there is no DECV teacher support or educational feedback provided for purchased material and in many cases there will be references to online material which cannot be accessed.

Distance Education Centre Victoria and Home Schooling – What is the difference?

The Distance Education Centre Victoria (DECV) is a Victorian Government school that provides flexible learning opportunities to Victorian students who are unable to attend mainstream schooling. Students enrolling at the DECV are taught by DECV teachers and access learning programs that are personalised for each individual student. Many students enrolled at the DECV learn from home with a nominated supervisor and do not attend daily scheduled classes. In order to directly enrol with the DECV students must meet our eligibility criteria. Different enrolment categories require different supporting documentation to be submitted.

Home schooling is where a family takes responsibility for teaching their children at home. Families who home school their children are registered to do this with the Victorian Registration and Qualifications Authority (VRQA). Registered Home Schooling families select appropriate learning materials for their children's learning program. DECV print material is available for families to purchase. It is not possible to be both registered for Home Schooling and be enrolled as a DECV student at the same time.
